Do not use the following pistols as they do not kill Eva in time: M-77 Paladán, Escorpión, Acero, Verdugo Gun. After incapacitating the crew member, the unit turns on Shepard, who pulls out a gun and brings down the drone. Keeping up with Eva is a trivial task for a Vanguard, as Biotic Charge instantly catches up with the player, even on a ladder (though still without inflicting appreciable damage). Before they can fight back, Eva will generate an omniblade and slash at the player in the face, resulting in an instant death. Even if the player somehow exhausts all of Eva's shields, she simply uses Shield Boost to regenerate them instantly, making even a hit on her health bar nearly impossible. James Vega, whom Shepard had ordered to return to the squad shuttle after meeting Liara, avoids his escape by crashing the Normandy shuttle into his own. EDI was in the process of analyzing the drive for data on the Prothean device when it accidentally activates a backup power supply (CPU). The most weapons can do is reduce their shields, and she is immune to many powers. As an alternative instant doom, jump over Shepard's face with both feet, crush her. EDI leaves the AI Core with the renewed body of Eva Cora after the mission 3, explaining to Shepard what happened. After making their way through the facility and reaching a security terminal, the team discovers that Dr. Eva is the suspected Cerberus infiltrator who enabled the disposition 3 Mars research 3. Be careful when you run behind Eva, especially during the first part of the persecution as she has the habit of throwing Incinerate directly behind her, surely hit you if it is near and directly behind her. Eva Cora arrives at the Mars facility a week before Reapers' invasion of Earth. Normandy At Shepard's orders, Vega carries Eva's charged body on her shoulders and picks it up to Normandy, where it is deposited in the AI Core room on deck three for its study. The woman disables her Alliance opponent with a kick before destroying the console linked to Prothean's cache. There will come a final moment when the only way to kill her is to use firearms as she is immune to biotic attacks. As the team begins to recover from the aftermath, with Ashley/Kaidan picking up Liara, Cora comes out of hell from the shuttle crash, revealing that she is not human, but a gynoid infiltration unit controlled by the Illusive Man. Eva Cora is a PhD student and recently joined the scientific team studying the Prothean Archive on Mars. Considering that it would have taken nothing less than a battalion to take over the installation, both team members and Liara conclude that a mole must have been involved. Shield Boost Incinerate Ashley/Kaidan tries to take over the unit, but ends up being grabbed by the Illusive Man for orders, resulting in serious injuries to Virmire's survivor. Defensive: Eva is quick and agile. She leads the team in a chase through the station, and manages to secure a trip on a Cerberus ferry. Eva primarily resisted the EDI, and the whole process of subduing Eva was the cause of the fluctuations throughout the ship, as well as a fire in the AI core. Ashley/Kaidan soon discover Eva in a terminal booth inside the archives, amid a Crucible schema projection.
